Statement of Qualifications Bond and Disclosure Counsel Services

Background Information

Dannis Woliver Kelley is a 45-attorney full-service education law firm that provides legal services to more than 150 school districts in the State of California. Our firm was one of the first law firms in California to dedicate its practice to serving school districts and community college districts exclusively, and remains one of the few law firms in the State to concentrate on this area of the law.

Dannis Woliver Kelley offers the District high-quality, effective, and prompt Bond Counsel legal services in all areas related to general obligation bonds. We have acted as Bond Counsel for school districts in a vast array of securities offerings and private placement transactions in the course of our everyday representation of school districts. As a result, we have developed and maintained effective relationships with independent financial advisors and underwriting firms, as well as other Bond Counsel firms, that allow us to be highly successful Bond Counsel to our clients.

We are included in The Bond Buyer's Municipal Marketplace (more commonly known as the "Red Book") listing of bond attorneys. We therefore qualify as nationally recognized Bond Counsel, and our opinions regarding the validity and tax exempt status of municipal bonds are accepted by major banks and financial institutions. We are a member of the National Association of Bond Lawyers and regularly attend its meetings and webcasts to stay abreast of changes in regulations and new municipal financing strategies.

Firm Qualifications

Dannis Woliver Kelley has been advising California K-12 public school districts with respect to the financing of land, facilities and equipment through the issuance of general obligation bonds and other forms of tax-exempt debt since 1980. The firm advises clients on general obligation bond issuances, certificates of participation, tax and revenue anticipation notes, as well as on using school facilities improvement districts, community facilities districts and parcel taxes to finance facilities. When desired, we advise clients on obtaining state funding for school sites and capital projects, and have achieved major court victories protecting our clients' rights to collect developer fees. We are listed in the "Red Book" as a nationally recognized Bond Counsel firm.

In July, 2014, Dannis Woliver Kelley merged with Matt Juhl-Darlington & Associates, a boutique education law firm serving California public schools. With that merger, Dannis Woliver Kelley strengthened its school finance practice by adding Meredith Johnson, its first attorney dedicated exclusively to school bond law, and also expanded to provide disclosure counsel services to bond clients. As described below, Meredith Johnson's practice is comprised solely of counseling California school districts in the financing and refinancing of capital facilities through the issuance of bonds and related instruments. In January, 2016, DWK further expanded its school bond practice with the addition of a second full-time bond lawyer as well as a bond paralegal bringing the school bond practice group to six attorneys and a paralegal.

Meredith Johnson will be the firm's lead Bond Counsel attorney for any transactions on behalf of the District and will serve as the main point of contact for the District. Ms. Johnson will have primary responsibility for drafting documents and negotiating their terms with other financing team members. She will be available to attend Board of Trustee meetings and finance team meetings at the request of the District, as well as when best practices dictate that Bond Counsel support be provided.

Ms. Johnson focuses her practice exclusively on Bond and Disclosure Counsel matters for California public schools. Ms. Johnson has over 15 years of experience counseling California school districts in financing and refinancing of capital facilities. Prior to joining DWK in 2014, Ms. Johnson was the sole Bond Counsel at Matt Juhl-Darlington & Associates for five years and prior to that she was a Senior Associate at an international law firm that is routinely recognized as one of the top 10 Bond Counsel firms in the United States. Ms. Johnson received her law degree from the University of California, Hastings College of Law and her undergraduate degree from the University of California, Berkeley.

Ms. Johnson regularly counsels school districts in undertaking general obligation bond elections and, after a successful election, the establishment of a citizens' oversight committee under Proposition 39 "The Smaller Classes, Safer Schools and Financial Accountability Act," if applicable. She has represented over 50 districts in bond elections varying in authorization amount from $1,000,000 to several hundred million dollars. Her depth of experience includes drafting ballot and project list language in coordination with an election consultant and/or financial advisor, counseling administrators on lawful election activities, reviewing arguments in favor and rebuttals, reviewing informational materials for dissemination and coordinating certification of election results. Ms. Johnson also has significant experience in assisting districts with the selection of citizens' oversight committee members and the legal requirements relating to the committee's meetings and activities.

In recent years, Ms. Johnson has gained significant experience in working with school districts in accessing building funds in spite of real estate value fluctuations and resulting plateaus or declines in assessed valuations. Through the issuance of bond anticipation notes, Ms. Johnson has assisted school districts in obtaining capital facilities moneys when applicable legal limitations prohibited the issuance of general obligation bonds. As an alternative to bond anticipation notes, Ms. Johnson also has expertise in applying to the State Department of Education for bonding capacity waivers in order to permit the issuance of bonds in advance of assessed valuation growth. Ms. Johnson's depth of experience permits her, in collaboration with other financing team members, to utilize creative and innovative financing structures to assist her clients satisfy their facilities needs regardless of economic context.

Ms. Johnson also has significant experience advising school district clients in the legal requirements for short-term cash-flow borrowings and certificates of participation secured by the general fund. Furthermore, Ms. Johnson has advised numerous school district clients in the formation of, and annexation into, Mello-Roos districts. She has assisted such districts in the issuance of special tax bonds as an additional method of financing capital facilities.
